

LADY STANDFORD'S TESTIMONY

SCRIPT

It happened last Friday. I came home around 5pm. My husband was working in his office when it happened. When I got home, everybody, I mean our employees, were doing different things around the house. I wanted to see Isabela, she's our cleaning woman. I was talking to her when suddenly, we heard loud noises coming from upstairs, it was very unusual. We decided to have a look. When we were walking up the stairs, we heard a long scream coming from outside. I rushed out. I was running towards the back of the house when I noticed... when I saw... my husband... lying on the ground! The window above us was shattered. The gardener was trying to resuscitate him when the maid arrived. I screamed at her "Call the doctor! Call the doctor!" but he was already dead! I stayed next to my husband until the doctor came, the murderer had obviously got away. I don't know who killed him. I have no idea! I trusted everyone! But I think we've been betrayed...
